GAMALIEL WATTERSON

West Virginia Democratic papers, since the great peace was established at the White House ten days ago, have accepted Henry Watterson as the Gamaliel of Democracy, and all seem anxious to sit at his feet and learn. Here is a tribute from the Wattersonian pen that is making a swift itinerary through the State:

"The President has never made a clearer or stronger public utterance than he makes in his letter to Chairman Underwood on the work of the present Congress. As no Congress ever did a greater work none has had a more powerful exponent. That work, for many years generally admitted to be urgent and promised by every preceding national administration, was never even undertaken by any except the Wilson administration. And it was a work of such character that it was not believed that, if attempted, it could be successfully accomplished by any administration. That it has been accomplished now, notably in the revision of the tariff and of the currency, must be attributed largely to the surprising leadership of Woodrow Wilson. Other Congresses have been willing to do this work; none until inspired and directed by the present chief executive ever seriously attempted to do it—the only one that ever attempted part of it—that under Grover Cleveland—making a lamentable fiasco."

But the same Watterson responsible for this statement quoted above, was responsible, too, remember for this estimate of Democracy, and his opinion of a great moral question with which Democracy professes virtuously to espouse:

"The vote for 'License' as against 'Prohibition,' in the counties of Daviess, Christian and McCracken, marked simply a preference for lawful procedure and just taxation on the one hand and as against outlawry, hypocrisy and no taxation on the other hand."

"The Prohibitionist may be either a well-meaning fool, or a scoundrel in league with bootlegging and blind-tigerism, who prefers to get his liquor on the sly. But where he has the best intentions, he is a fanatic who would, on what he considered sufficient provocation, not hesitate to burn his neighbor's house or do any despicable act in God's name." He who sets himself to interfere with the personal liberty of any other man is a villain.

"This is as true as holy writ. It is proved by all history. It is shown by every-day observation. But it is inevitable to the attitude of the man who wants to force his fellow-man to think as he thinks and do as he does. Such men applauded when women and children were burned at the stake. It is their nature. They justify themselves by the thin veneering of morality which but scantily conceals their bigotry, that being but another name for cruelty, irreligion and inherent degeneracy."

"The Courier-Journal has said and said truly, that no Democrat can be a Prohibitionist. Where one pretends to be he is too ignorant to know the difference between black and white. But, show us a Prohibitionist and we will show in turn a man who is not only too mean to be a Democrat, but too narrow of nature to have either soul, heart, or understanding."

"In other words, they are of those grocers who sand the sugar and water the milk every morning before they kneel in prayer.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

THE LAUGHING CURE

Let him declare every day of his life that his hour is approaching when he will be read and appreciated by multitudes. A man with such talents possesses the power to bring about their recognition if he uses the right mental weapon. Mr. Gardner should avoid thinking or uttering such sentences as the following, which he sent to a newspaper last February:

"Before my coming here there had appeared among the scribes of America but one true singer. Edgar Allan Poe. Him they virtually murdered. Now they have me, with as great a gift for the long poem as had Poe for the shorter lay, and behold, I also am doomed."

This is a very foolish way for so gifted a young man to talk. It places him in the list of those whom Jack London has dubbed Sob-Brothers. Yes, the laughing cure is what Mr. Nelson Gardner, "The American Poet," needs.—Portsmouth Star.

LET EUROPE WORRY

The Federal Reserve Board is just now worrying over providing the gold to pay the $200,000,000 due in Europe to adjust the balance of trade.

If we sell $200,000,000 worth of goods to Europe and buy the same amount from over there, no money necessarily changes hands. But if we buy from Europe more than we sell to it, the balance must be paid in gold. This is what has happened under the Democratic tariff law. Under a protective tariff, we always sold more goods abroad than we bought of it; and let Europe do the worrying over the loss of gold.

"DADDY" MAPLE'S PHILOSOPHY

"Daddy" Maple, a saw mill employe at Narrows, a down-state village, is neither a politician nor a philosopher, but his comment on the Democratic panic is worth quoting. After the mill had shut down for want of orders, and the idle men were sitting around the village discussing the hard times, "Dad" quaintly remarked: "I have gone through wars and I have gone through Democratic administrations, but I'll be d—d if I ever had the hard luck to strike both at the same time before."

THE DEAD MOOSE

The Louisville Herald, commenting on the all-at-once activity of the Democrats in bringing cabinet officers, Senators and Congressmen to Kentucky to speak from a special train, says: "One suspects that the Democracy may have 'smelt a mouse'; 'but,' The Herald continues, 'they will discover it is not a mouse but a Moose.' For once the Herald is right. The smell of the dead Moose alarms the Democrats, for they must now face a united Republican party in Kentucky."

NO FRIENDS

Is it possible that endorsement of the Wilson Administration is being asked for only by those who are drawing salaries under it? The editorial columns of the Louisville Courier-Journal and the Times are noticeably barren of any reference to the Democratic candidates, and the Cincinnati Enquirer is openly denouncing both the tariff law and war tax measures as destructive legislation, and demanding their repeal.

ANOTHER TAX BILL

Another so-called "war" revenue bill will have to be enacted within another year, Senator Borah declares, to make up the further deficits produced by the Democratic law.

BLUFFING INDIGESTION.

John D. Rockefeller, a wreck 20 years ago, is today the strongest, healthiest man of his age, perhaps in America. Congratulated on this miraculous change, Mr. Rockefeller said on the Pocantico Hills links to a reporter: "I cured myself, young man, as I attacked the oil business—with hard work, with perseverance. Most sufferers, you know, are like Smythe." "Smythe, the multimillionaire, said with a sigh at the midnight supper hour in a Fifth Avenue restaurant: "When I was young I could eat anything and could afford nothing. Now I can afford anything and can eat nothing. Heigh, ho! Bring me, waiter, a grilled lobster, a Welsh rarebit and a piece of hot mince pie."

A WORD WITH WOMEN

Valuable Advice for Maysville Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored, contain sediment; the passages are too frequent or scanty. Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Donn's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Maysville woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. Dora McLeod, Maysville, Ky., says: "I had been feeling poorly for some time, before I knew that my kidneys were at fault. I was nervous and dizzy and my back and head ached. I rested poorly and mornings I was all tired out. I read in a local paper how a neighbor had been cured of kidney trouble by Donn's Kidney Pills. I used them and before long I was a great deal better. I was able to sleep well and they improved my health."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Donn's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. McLeod had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Prohibition Booze.
The State was dry, and so was I,
But as I walked around
Some old blind tigers I could spy
Where whisky could be found.

I entered one and asked for booze,
The keeper said to me:
"Just look around, and you can choose
Your brand from what you see."

I looked around, and there I found
Train oil and jalapae,
Carbolic acid, liquid glue,
Wood alcohol, shellac,
Strong turpentine and lizard stew,
All for two bits a crack.

The keeper said: "This stuff is stout,
Although it may taste queer,
But when you take your drink, get out,
For you can't die in here."

WAS A BAD MIXUP.

In handling the slugs and type that make up the lines in newspapers some funny mixups occur occasionally, once in a while in those that think they are "absolutely free from error." As an illustration of what can happen, we cite the mixup of the Bango (Pa.) News a few days ago when the printer got a wedding and an auction sale mixed up with the following results:

"William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Smith and Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east, in the presence of 70 guests, including two mules and 12 head of cattle."

"Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties, averaging 1,250 pounds on hoof. The beautiful home of the bride was decorated with one sulkey rake, one feed grinder and two sets of work harness, nearly new, and just of the ceremony was pronounced the Mendellson wedding march was rendered by one milch cow, five years old, one Jersey cow and one sheep, who carrying a bunch of bride's roses in her hand, was very beautiful. She wore one light spring wagon, two crates of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone of mouseline de sole and trimmings of one hundred bushels squids. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip, terms spot cash."

SOME RELIEF AT LAST.

Even those who habitually say that war is "worth all it costs" have subsided.—Boston Herald.

Sentimental Young Lady—Ah, professor, what would this old oak say if it could talk?

Professor—It would say, "I am an elm!"—Fliegende Blatter.
